20 PER CENT OF DEPAUW FACULTY IN WAR SERVICE

DR. WILDMAN, PRESIDENT OF UNIVERSITY, ISSUES
STATISTICS

Twenty percent of the male faculty members of DePauw University, including head of two departments have gone directly into military service since 1942, figures released by President Clyde E. Wildman indicated today. This percentage gives DePauw a high average in number of faculty members now serving in the armed forces from liberal arts schools of its size.

The twenty percent figure does not include members of the DePauw faculty who have entered government service or other civilian activity directly connected with the prosecution of the war, the newly released statement shows. It includes only those in military service, almost all of whom have merely left their posts with the University and are expected to return to their positions after the war.

DePauw faculty members now in the armed forces include Major Donovan C. Moffett, head of the Department of Physical Education, now stationed at Lawson Field, Fort Benning, Ga.; Capt. Harold Zink, head of the Department of Political Science, now serving with the AMG in England; Capt. Andrew W. Crandall, professor of history, who is stationed in Italy and working on the historical account of the war; Capt. Albert E. Reynolds, associate professor of zoology, stationed at Cochran Field, Ga.; Capt. Russell Alexander, publicity director, now chief of Morale Services with Headquarters 4th Regiment, New Orleans, and Capt. Robert H. Farber, former secretary of admissions and assistant director of the Rector Scholarship Foundation, serving as Classification Officer with the 65th infantry division at Camp Shelby, Miss.

Other DePauw teachers in war service are Lt. George B. Manhart, professor of European history, who is stationed at San Antonio, Tex.; Lt. (jg) Vernon Van Dyke, associate professor of political science, who is stationed in Washington, D. C.; Lt. (jg) Paul J. Carter, assistant professor of English, an instructor at the Naval Academy at Annapolis; Ensign Gerald E. Warren, assistant professor of economics, on duty on a destroyer in the South Pacific; Lt. (jg) Hal Hickman, instructor in physical education for men, now instructor at the Chapel Hill, N. C., Naval Flight School; Ensign Wisner Kinne, assistant professor of English, stationed at Tucson, Ariz.; and Ensign Robert E. Elder, former publicity director and assistant in history, who has recently reported to Plattsburgh, N. Y., for induction.

Additional DePauw instructors in the group include Corp. Edward G. Shadbolt, assistant professor of piano, who is at MacDill Field, Tampa, Fla.; S/Sgt. Howard B. Youse, instructor in botany, stationed at Barksdale Field, Shreveport, La.; and Pvt. Arthur Shumaker, former instructor in English, now at Camp Maxey, Texas.

Increase U. S. Share In World Bank Fund

BRETTON WOODS, N. H., July 22.—An initial capital of $8,800,000,000 for the World Bank for Reconstruction and Development was agreed on today by the United Nations monetary conference, completing the work of the three-week session except for technical details.

The Soviet Union was given a total of $900,000,000, the amount for which the Russians had stubbornly held out.

The United States quota was set at $3,175,000,000, Great Britain's at $1,300,000,000, China's at $600,000,000 and France's at $450,000,000. It had been the hope of conference leaders that the quotas for the bank and the international monetary fund would be about the same, but Russia and the Latin American republics put up a strong fight for lower bank quotas.

The United States accepted an increase of $425,000,000 over its fund quota, while the United Kingdom subscription was unchanged. The United States departed from its previous position that it would take only one-third of the bank's initial capital.

CREAM CANS FLY WHEN TRUCK LOSES END GATE

A truck traveling at a pretty fast rate on Jackson street, shortly after 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, hit the dip in the intersection at Walnut street too hard, losing the end gate and spilling about a dozen five-gallon cans of cream in the block between Walnut and Washington.

The noise of the cans crashing to the pavement along with the end gate brought scores of persons out of stores and offices on the route to see what had happened. Fortunately no one was hurt but the flying cans barely missed three or four cars parked in the vicinity of The Daily Banner office. The truck, it was said, was enroute from Spencer to Crawfordsville. Several gallons of cream was lost in the mishap.

Firemen turned out shortly after the accident and washed the street to eliminate the slippery condition resulting from the spilled cream.

Christian McClure Writes From Italy

Dr. and Mrs. Claud M. McClure are in receipt of the following interesting letter from their son, Christian McClure, who is serving in the air forces somewhere in Italy:

July 14, 1944

Dear Mom and Dad,

The mail is coming through fairly well now and I've received most of your letters written during June and up to about the second or third of this month, also I've gotten quite a few magazines and papers including the bundle of Banners that you sent. I enjoy reading old Greencastle Daily once again, but I find that most of the names sound new and strange to me, except all the old townspeople and business men. Guess that's because I haven't been home in almost a year and a half now and new names and faces are bound to appear in that length of time. I saw mentioned in some of the papers names of kids who are prominent around the high school now. When I left I thought of them as small children still in the seventh and eighth grades. Seems funny to find out that I'm actually growing up and getting older. Can you imagine your little boy of twenty-one soon? I can't seem to imagine it either. Time does fly. The Banner also carried one of the best war bond advertisements I've ever seen, something about "you won't have to explain to all the boys overseas why you didn't buy that extra bond, because all the boys won't be coming back", if that doesn't reach the very heart of a lot of people then I guess nothing will. Think I'll buy more bonds myself.

Had one of the best times since coming over here a few days ago. The squadron took a truck load of us to a beach on the Adriatic to spend the day, even provided sandwiches for us. It was a swell beach, clean and nice white sand, it's strictly for Allied troops and it's kept provided for so its clean all the time. We swam off the beach for awhile, the taste of saltwater reminded me of our summers together out East, and then we rented a sailboat and for a couple of hours just sailed around, sunbathing and diving and swimming off the boat, lots of fun. Well, some of the boys got hungry again so we persuaded the driver to take us into the little town there and we had eggs and potatoes. We let the food settle for about half an hour and then hit the water again. Some British brought in a couple of landing barges so we swam out to them and dove for awhile, also between swims we tried to participate in a game of cricket on the beach, but I couldn't seem to get the knack of it at all. Everyone had a swell time all day long and the war seemed so far away, except for a couple of fighter planes buzzing the beach to give everyone a thrill. I hear that they plan to send a couple of trucks to the beach again soon, and I'll sure be on them. We're kind of giving up swimming in the river because its not too clean now.

Funny thing about these British, when Americans and British are together they get along swell, but when apart they really talk about each other. There's only one kind of Limey British and that's the man who comes from England proper, Irish, Scots, Indiana, New Zealanders, Aussies, and South Africans all hate to be called British, they all definitely tell you the proper place they're from and yet they all fight so well together. All of them must have their four spots of tea a day or they are lost. I guess all the Allied troops over here consider the Americans

NEW REIGN OF TERROR SWEEPS OVER GERMANY

HITLER ORDERS EXECUTIONS
OF SUSPECTS IN BOMB PLOT

LONDON, July 22.—The ax of Nazi vengeance fell without mercy throughout Germany today in the wake of an alleged attempt against the life of Adolf Hitler, with enemy propaganda agencies announcing immediate execution of all suspected of complicity in the plot.

Reports declared a purge of generals was under way.

Hitler appointed Heinrich Himmler, gestapo chief, as commander-in-chief inside Germany to exterminate the "usurpers."

DNB broadcast with a fanfare that Col. Gen. Ludwig Beck, identified as one of the guiding figures in the strange and still unsatisfactorily explained affair "is no longer alive."

Announcement of Gen. Beck's execution followed a claim by Nazi propagandists that two German army generals, assisted by adjutants, were chiefly responsible for plotting the assassination attempt, in which Hitler and 13 of his staff were injured.

A traveler reaching Sweden today declared two German divisions revolted Wednesday in Prussia, apparently touching off the movement which culminated in the reported attempt on Hitler's life.

Reports flooded into London meanwhile that something in the nature of an open military revolt against Hitler's leadership was in progress, with the inevitable blood purge of dissident elements.

One report from Stockholm even said that crack units of the Nazi Brownshirt army were marching on Berlin to restore order.

In this connection, the German Transoceanic agency said that "certain precautionary measures" were taken in the center of Berlin last night. The agency reported:

"The orders given by the conspirators to military formations were stopped in time."

The Nazi DNE agency interrupted its regular transmissions at 9:20 a. m. (Chicago time) to put out an announcement that Hitler's collaborator or Bergr, injured during the reported attempt to assassinate the Fuehrer "died in the meantime, it was learned just now."

DNE later issued a revised statement of the events surrounding the assassination attempt, asserting that the military leaders who engineered the affair attempted subsequently to seize power throughout the Reich.

"A few hours after the liquidation, a small and very limited clique of generals and colonels who organized the attempt on the Fuehrer then tried to usurp power in Germany."

"All reports and information coming in from all parts of Germany clearly demonstrate that the National Socialist regime is so stable that attempts of this kind, which are in the last report inspired by the enemy, are doomed to failure from the very beginning."

"The mass of German people and Berliners in particular saw nothing of events because the orders given by the conspirators to military formations were stopped in time."

"Certain precautionary measures in the center of Berlin some time last evening were all that could be seen by outsiders. There were no shots heard; no barbed wire seen; in short, there was nothing dramatic about the events that followed the attempt against the Fuehrer and his miraculous escape."

"Many details, such as the names of some of the conspirators and the outward conditions under which the attempt was made still are being withheld by authorities. After the conclusion of a thorough police investigation the government is likely to give a detailed account of the events."

OPA SUES ON BANANAS

HAMMOND, July 22.—On the Hammond federal court docket today was a hearing on charges filed by Chester Bowles, OPA administrator, against the Inland Trading Company of Hammond, wholesale dealers in bananas. The government has demanded preliminary and final injunctions in addition to a fine of $69,000, charging the company with selling in excess of maximum prices as set up by the OPA. In addition it was charged that the company forced customers to buy other commodities as a condition of their purchase of bananas.

TOKYO REPORTS KOISO IS NEW JAP PREMIER

By United Press

Tokyo announced today that Gen. Kuniaki Koiso, former governor general of Korea, has been appointed premier of a new Japanese cabinet of conservative elder army, navy and business leaders to succeed the discredited extremist government of Gen. Hideki Tojo.

The choice of experienced leaders to take over the helm of the government was seen as an attempt to rally the Japanese people and armed forces to new exertions in the face of the growing American threat to their homeland, highlighted by the invasion of Guam and the conquest of Saipan, 1,500 miles south of Tokyo.

Marshal Gen. Sugiyama, former army chief of staff, was named war minister and Mamoru Shigemitsu was returned to the foreign ministry, the post he held in the Tojo cabinet. Former Premier Adm. Mitsumasa Yonai, commissioned by Emperor Hirohito with Koiso to form the new cabinet, took the navy ministry, a portfolio he held from 1937 to 1939.

Shigemitsu also was given the portfolio of greater East Asia minister.

Announcement of the new government ended a five-day domestic crisis touched off by the en bloc resignation of Tojo's cabinet last Tuesday with an admission that it could not win the war, an admission that came almost simultaneously with an acknowledgement of the loss of Saipan.

Inauguration of the new cabinet will complete the downfall of the military extremists who plotted and executed the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor and the conquest of the Philippines, Malaya, Singapore, Burma, the Dutch East Indies and a number of American and British islands in the Pacific.

Mud And Rains Slow Montgomery

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, July 22 (UP)—Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's offensive down the highway from Caen to Paris bogged down completely in mud and heavy rains today and supreme headquarters announced in its shortest communique of the invasion that "there is nothing to report."

British and Canadian forces waited in foxholes, trenches and ditches half filled with water on an arc extending nearly five miles beyond Caen for clearing skies to resume their march

TRUMAN TO BE RUNNING MATE OF ROOSEVELT

MISSOURI SENATOR NOMINATED ON SECOND BALLOT
BY DEMOCRATS

DEMOCRATIC HEADQUARTERS, CHICAGO, July 22.—(UP)—President Roosevelt was off today on his fourth term campaign with running mate No. 3 after a bruising final session of the Democratic national convention which rejected Vice President Henry A. Wallace and nominated Sen. Harry S. Truman of Missouri for his job.

Mr. Roosevelt's first running mate was John Nance Garner of Texas who was elected vice president in 1932 and 1936 and then broke with the President.

The Democratic nominees plan a late campaign, conforming to Mr. Roosevelt's standard and effective practice. Neither is expected to begin major speeches until late September or October.

Truman appears to have been the hand-picked choice of the President whose wishes were carried out here by a strategy board consisting of half a dozen men. Top honors for beating down the effort of left wingers and others to keep Wallace on the ticket goes to National Committee Chairman Robert E. Hannegan, a 40-year-old from St. Louis who was chosen by Mr. Roosevelt to administer party affairs.

Truman, nominated yesterday for vice president about 24 hours after Mr. Roosevelt was named for a fourth term, is a second term member of the Senate who is chairman of the committee investigating munitions production and contracts. He is reckoned to have conserved for the taxpayers a great many millions of dollars which might have been spent to no purpose.

Wallace was ahead on the first ballot, 429 1/2 to 319 1/2. The remainder of the votes were scattered among other candidates, most of whom had been nominated to provide various state delegations with safe places to cast their votes pending some indication who might be the winner.

The Wallace drive began collapsing on the second ballot when little Delaware switched to give its full eight votes to Truman. When Maryland was reached on the roll call, the Gov. Herbert R. O'Connor to give Truman 18 more votes. Oklahoma's Gov. Robert S. Kerr withdrew from the race and the state's 22 votes went to Truman. Virginia switched her 24 from Sen. John H. Bankhead of Alabama to the Missourian. By that time the stampede was on and states were clamoring for a chance to change their votes.

But even with the changes effected during the roll call, Truman and Wallace were only 31 1/2 votes apart when the last delegate was polled and before changes began being made for the record. Truman had 477 1/2 votes at the end of the roll call and Wallace had 473. Eleven other candidates still were in the contest at that time, but not for long.

By the time all the changes had been announced the score, subject to minor correction, was Truman, 1,074; Wallace, 66; Gov. Prentice Cooper of Tennessee, 26; Associate Justice William O. Douglas, 4; and six absent. Only 589 votes were required for a bare nominating majority.

This is about the windiest place I ever saw, Jones says the wind blows more here than it does in parts of Texas and that's quite a lot. The other night the wind blew the roof off the service club, but somehow our tent stayed up. If it had of blown down I don't think a one of us would have gotten up, just layed there on our bunks and go back to sleep.
I'm due to go to rest camp for a few days on the first of August. Don't know whether I really want to go or not, but they've already put my name down and say I can't get out of it now. It wouldn't be bad to just lay around for a few days knowing I didn't have anything to do at all.

toward Paris, 112 miles to the east. Ground fog and low-lying clouds further immobilized operations and front reports told only of occasional artillery and mortar fire and routine limited patrols. Virtually all planes were grounded.

Desultory clashes were reported at Troarn, seven miles east of Caen, with British vanguards in the outskirts and about 1,000 yards north of the town. South of Caen, the British were established firmly in St. Andre-Sur-Orne, four miles down the Orne river, but headquarters retracted a previous announcement that they had taken St. Martin De Fontenay, a few hundred yards farther south.

(A London broadcast said that "half of Troarn" still was in German hands, but the "fighting is going well for us.")

On the western half of the front, the American 1st army inched to within 4,000 yards north of Periers-St. Lo highway and won positions 1,500 yards west of the Vire river four miles northwest of St. Lo.

A headquarters spokesman acknowledged he also was in error in reporting the capture of raids, four miles north of Periers on the highway from Carentan, and Berigny, on the St. Lo-Bayeux highway. Both still were in German hands, he said.

SENATOR TRUMAN AND FAMILY HAPPY IN CHICAGO

The Universalist Leaders say, Brethren, the world thinks no better of the church and the ministry than we do. We have no right to expect others the respect we ourselves do not show. They will not go to church we ourselves make small. They will not take the cause of religion any more seriously than we do.

Has it ever occurred to you that your absence from the church helps make it small and that your failing to be serious about religion helps make the religion ineffective? Why not accept the invitation and COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY? — D. Carl Yoder.

Nothing is so utterly and hopelessly lost as time. The average person goes down by wasting a few minutes a day, not realizing that the sum of such apparently trifling losses at the end is appallingly large. Waste time is little short of a crime. No one can afford to throw away a minute.

DO YOU KNOW

1. How many days was Jesus in the wilderness tempted of the Devil?
2. How many pieces of silver was Judas sold for?
3. How old was Jesus when He was baptized?
4. How many men were cast into the fiery furnace?
5. How many times did Elisha tell his man to wash in the Jordan river?

SGT.'S RING POSES MYSTERY.

COALDALE, Pa. (UP)—Sgt. William Lusavage's high school class ring is more than a treasure of the good old days. It is also a souvenir of mystery travel. Lost while the serviceman was stationed in the South Pacific battle area, the ring was found in an Alaskan port. He returned it to Lusavage's parents here.

NEWS IN THE WORLD OF RELIGION

The upheavals of war within Germany have made for greater unity of the Protestant churches there and for their greater cooperation with the Roman Catholic churches, according to the World Council of Churches. Protestant churches of Germany are bound together by a twelve-point program to resist Nazi anti-religious pressure. Leaders of the united churches have on many occasions protested directly and indirectly against government measures contrary to Christian conceptions. They have spoken against so-called "mercy killings" and other violations of basic human rights. They have denounced the persecution of Jews, in sermons as well as in letters to the government, and they have often, at great risk, given active aid to Jews and non-Aryan Christians.

Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, the Archbishop of York, Dr. Leslie Weatherhead of London, Dr. W. A. Visser't Hooft of Geneva, and other noted international Christian leaders are listed among those who are broadcasting during the summer and fall over the NBC network in a series entitled "The Church in Action." The series is sponsored by the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, and presents the activities of the churches today and their social welfare plans for tomorrow. The broadcasts are heard each Sunday from 2 to 2:30 p. m., Eastern War-time.

"In this war period, the rural clergy has the opportunity and the responsibility to stimulate, encourage and assist food-and-fibre-producing farmers to better, greater, and more constant production," said the Very Rev. George J. Hildner, V. J., vice-president of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference, meeting recently in Alexandria, La. "In the post-war planning they must be counselors, guides and leaders, besides ministering to the spiritual needs of their people. The Catholic rural pastor has been prepared by many years of study to lead his people through the maze of false, radical and dangerous isms and economic clasp. He is not influenced by pressure groups, organizers, or opportunism, but by Christian principles of justice and charity and the social principles of the Catholic Church."

American churchmen of several denominations, serving through the American Friends Service Committee, have thus far in 1944 shipped 30,000 cases of milk (which on arrival is mixed with equal parts of water) to the famine area of Bengal, India, to help save the lives of little children and aged and ill adults. "Every ounce helps to save human life," says Secretary James G. Vail, now in India. "A half pint of milk a day seems a trifling gift, but to these people, never well fed, and depleted by extreme privation, it may be the difference between disease and health or even between life and death." In addition to milk, there is being sent by the Friends, by boat and plane, vitamin tablets, and sulfa tablets for dysentery and pneumonia, all of which are prevalent in Bengal Province.

"It is shocking how many people think of God as an American—and probably as a Republican or a Democrat, depending on where they live," says Dr. Robert W. Searle of the Greater New York Federation of Churches. "Certainly God is white, and to some he apparently came over in the Mayflower! . . . Do we not act as though we were convinced that God is a Roman Catholic, an Episcopalian, a Presbyterian, a Lutheran, or what are you? Do we not even reduce him to the level of our parish church? How many of the black ignorances of men's minds and souls are the results of the shadows which we cast?"

"Recently we attended a 'service ecumenique interalle' at the Reformed Church in Algiers, North Africa," writes Miss Martha Whiteley, Methodist missionary in that North African metropolis. "The church was decorated with plants and also with the flags of all the Allies. Pastor Boegner gave the message for the French church; the next was a chaplain representing the English churches; then our own Methodist missionary, Mr. Hansen from Norway; and after him an American chaplain. Last of all was a young Kabyle Christian who has done preliminary medical studies and who is now helping in the Rolland mission."

No new church can be erected until after the war, but, meanwhile, the young people of St. Stephen's Protestant Episcopal Church, Beckley, West Virginia, are buying war savings stamps and war bonds for the new building they envision for their own needs and the needs of returning service men. Each has pledged to give at least two 25-cent stamps each week for the fund.

CATHOLIC INFORMATION

We all have pull in heaven—I knew the Governor, so I wrote him direct for a personal favor.

I knew the Governor's mother. I knew he loved her. I knew she therefore had influence with him. So I wrote her to plead my cause with her son.

I knew, too, an old family servant whom the Governor had pensioned for life for services worthily rendered. So I wrote him to say a word in my behalf.

Now the Governor alone could grant my request and perhaps my plea to him would have been all-sufficient. But it couldn't hurt to use all possible pull in his mansion. It seemed wise. I did it.

God alone can provide for the needs of His creatures, so every Catholic prays to Him first in adoration and supplication. But in our Father's house there is Mary whom He honored above all His creatures by inviting her to become the mother of His Divine Son, and at whose request He performed His first earthly miracle in Cana of Galilee. In our Father's house there are the saints—servants of God who are pensioned for eternity for services worthily rendered. Mary, His mother and ours! The saints, His brother and sisters, and ours.

Pull in Heaven? Why it's tremendous! It's there waiting for us, if we but ask. To us Catholics it would seem wasteful; it would seem unreasonable; it would seem downright nonsense not to use all possible heavenly pull to back up our requests to God Almighty.

"Holy Mary, Mother of God, pray for us!" "All ye holy Saints of God, pray for us!"

There is full authority and sound logic behind every Catholic belief and practice. May we give you these on any Catholic subject?

LEGION MEMBERSHIP UP

American Legion membership in the Sixth Indiana district, of which Putnam county is a part, totals 3,822, a gain of 404 during the year, according to announcement made by William E. Brown, of Bloomington, state membership chairman of the Indiana department of the Legion.
Mr. Brown, who will be a candidate for election as state commander at the Legion's state convention in Indianapolis next month, asserted in his announcement that 6,276 Hoosier veterans of World War II, or more than 50 per cent of those who have returned to civilian life, had joined the Legion. The total active membership of the Legion in Indiana, Mr. Brown reported, is 48,688, an all-time high, and 8,102 more members than the state roster contained a year ago.

"Membership in the American Legion is growing so fast that every post in the state already is, or soon will be, faced with the problem of expanding its quarters to accommodate the veterans of both world wars," Mr. Brown declared, adding that it was his purpose, should he be elected to head the Indiana department during the next year, to help the various posts in solving their new housing problems.

Another task of the Legion in the coming year, he asserted, will be to see that proper care is provided for disabled veterans as they return home, to aid them in getting jobs, and to guide them in obtaining the benefits of the new "G. I." Act, including educational training as set up by the various colleges and universities of the state.

39 Grid Players Report To Neal

Thirty-nine grid candidates responded to Head Coach R. R. (Gummy) Neal's call for men this week when summer football practice got under way at DePauw University. Within a week about fifty men are expected to be out for practice.

The thirty-nine men, all apprentice seamen in DePauw's Navy V-12 units, are out in force four times a week to make the varsity squad, which will meet its first opponent in the 1944 grid contests on either September 23 or 30.

The tentative schedule of games for DePauw this fall has just been announced by Dr. Lloyd L. Messersmith, acting head of the Department of Physical Education. All dates are not final, and some spots have not yet been filled, according to Dr. Messersmith. The tentative list is as follows:

Sept. 23 Open
Sept. 30 Ohio Wesleyan
Oct. 7 Illinois Normal
Oct. 14 Miami
Oct. 21 Wabash
Oct. 28 Open

Nov. 18 Miami

Of this list, home games are Illinois Wesleyan, Oberlin and the November 18 Miami game. Old Gold Day and Dad's Day will be combined on November 11, when the DePauw Tigers meet Oberlin on Blackstock field in Greencastle.

Practice will be held four times a week during July and August, with the schedule changing to five days a week in September, according to Coach Neal. Reporting for summer practice this week are the following men:

FINED $1, DAY IN JAIL FOR EACH OF 300 GAS COUPONS
 SEATTLE (UP) — A McNeil Island federal prisoner finds himself paying one dollar a day even for jail accommodation.

Convicted on five counts for possessing 302 "C-2" gas coupons, 39-year old former Chicago Negro, Cornelius Madison, was recently fined $300 and sentenced to 300 days in the penitentiary.

"The stamps are very expensive—not only their cost at $45 a thousand gallons, but the sentence of one day and one dollar you will have to pay and serve for each coupon," said U. S. Judge Charles H. Leavy as he passed sentence.

SUMMER TIME HEALTH CAUTION HINTS GIVEN
 Summertime can be dangerous to the health, or it can be a time to store up extra vitality for winter.

says a State Medical Association bulletin. "Food can be a dangerpoint for infection," the bulletin states. "Its source should be carefully watched. Grade A milk is a necessity. Vegetables should be fresh—preferably right from the garden—thoroughly washed and kept cool. Bread, particularly whole wheat, should be kept in the refrigerator.

"Pies with cream fillings, cream puffs, eclairs, ham and hollandaise sauce are particularly susceptible to the staphylococcus germ which causes severe cases of food poisoning, and should be kept thoroughly chilled.

"Sunbathing should be taken in moderation, so should swimming. Swimmers should not go into the water right after meals or when completely exhausted. They should keep nose free from water when it is submerged to avoid ear, nose and throat infections, and should not remain in the water too long, as thorough chilling of the body has the same effect in summer as in the winter.

"Flies and mosquitoes and other insects should be kept out of the house by strong screens, and quick exterminators where necessary. Breeding places of mosquitoes should be destroyed. Bird baths and pools should be drained and cleaned frequently. Water in which flowers stand in the house can be a breeding place too, and should be changed every day.

"Light, loose clothing without belts, tight armholes or tight sleeves lets the air reach the skin, allows ease of motion and makes one cooler," the bulletin continued. "Labor-saving devices are worth more in summer than at any other season. The wise housewife gets up early in the morning, uses her electric washer, her ironer, her vacuum cleaner, her pressure cooker when the day is cool, finishes her work and is not pursued by chores all day long. She will do well to prepare her meals in the cool early morning hours too.

"Much heat will be kept out if houses are kept closed and darkened during the day. Fans should be placed on the floor to do the most good. Frequent showers, with cold water if you like, are recommended.

"It is worthwhile to take pains to keep cool," the bulletin concluded, "not only for the sake of comfort but for the sake of health as well. Get in the shade if you can, wear the coolest thing possible, then forget about how hot you are."

ARMY SETS UP PROGRAM FOR TOOL SALVAGE

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—The St. Louis Ordnance Depot has been made the national center for tool reclamation under a new plan likely to save the taxpayers from 30 to 50 million dollars a year, the Ordnance Department announced recently through Maj. A. H. Gardner, Jr., commanding officer of the Lake City Ordnance Plant near here.

Troop units about to be sent abroad surrender the tools they have used in training and are issued factory-new equipment upon arrival overseas. Under the previous set-up tools left behind were scattered among various ordnance depots for reclamation. Centralization of reclamation in St. Louis not only will effect large monetary savings, Maj. Gardner pointed out, but will forestall consumption of critical man hours and materials in the manufacture of new tools.

The new plan provides that all tools left behind in Army camps by troops sent overseas shall be gathered up and rushed to the St. Louis Ordnance Depot to be cleaned, repaired, reconditioned, and made virtually as good as new. The reclaimed tools are then classified, packed and stored for subsequent redistribution to ground and air forces still in training or to be activated. Tools that are damaged beyond repair are promptly converted into salvage.

The reclamation program includes wrenches, hammers, files, shovels, axes, picks, screwdrivers, grease cups, drills, air compressors, blow torches, chains, oil cans, brushes, rubber hose and even rope.

Used tools are pouring into St. Louis at the rate of 10 to 12 carloads a day, Maj. Gardner said, with the daily volume expected soon to increase to 30 or 40 carloads.

The value of tools already reclaimed by ordnance in the first three weeks under the St. Louis plan exceeded one million dollars. The St. Louis Ordnance Depot has been the tools and equipment supply center for the Army since its establishment nearly two years ago, Maj. Gardner said. Centralization of tool reclamation at this depot was a natural and logical development, according to the officer.

NEW LAMP EXTENDS LIFE OF VACCINES

CHICAGO (UP) — A newly developed ultra-violet lamp which kills or inactivates bacteria and viruses in less than one second may revolutionize the production of vaccines according to the Journal of the American Medical Assn.

Reporting on experiments conducted by five Chicago scientists, the Journal said the new method kills or inactivates bacteria and viruses in a fraction of a second by exposing continuously flowing films, less than 1 millimeter in depth, to the rays of the lamp.

With this method there is a minimum loss of antigenicity, or ability to produce antibodies when the vaccine is introduced into the body, the Journal said, and explained there is undue destruction of antigenic properties in the usual method of inactivation with heat or chemicals.

Experiments indicated that vaccines prepared with the new method retain their strength for longer periods, the Journal said, and irradiated rabies vaccines showed no loss of potency after having been stored for six months at icebox temperature. Phenolized vaccines deteriorate rapidly when stored at these temperatures, the magazine declared.

The vaccines were tested on animals by Dr. Sidney O. Levinson, Albert Milzer, Howard J. Shaughnessy, John L. Neal and Franz Oppenheimer, working at Michael Reese Hospital and the Division of Laboratories, Illinois Department of Health.
